

Miscellany.

SOME SCRIPTURE CHARACTERS.

Some of the worthies mentioned in the Bible are very long lived. They renew their youth from time to time, and appear in every successive generation. Very likely they will live as long as the world stands. At all events they are alive now, and will be till the Church arrives at a much greater degree of purity, and takes a very long stride towards perfection. This age will never record their death, nor will the next generation be permitted to write their epitaph.

Paul speaks of some who have itching ears, and who turn away their ears from the truth. These same are found now in every church. Their ears are tender; the truth hurts them. Their ears itch for something new or strange, and they can never listen for a long time to the same voice, nor even to the same old truths from any voice, be it as evangelic as Paul, or as eloquent as Apollon. Such men yet live; and the itch which afflicts them they sometimes communicate to others. So this race is likely to be perpetuated.

And poor old Demas is alive yet, loving this present world as much as ever. His cry, as of old, was, Give, Give! and he can never have enough of earth. If his ears do not itch his fingers do, and nothing can cure them but the touch of gold. He will cling to the preacher, as to anything else, so long as he can make money out of him; but when the hope of gain is gone, he will forsake him as he did Paul. Poor man, his eyes are on his muck-rack, and he can never look up!

And Alexander the coppersmith yet lives, and he does the servants of the Lord much evil now, as of old, by greatly withstanding their words. They may preach the truth just as it is found in God's own book, but Alexander has no ears to hear it, and no heart to appreciate it.

He is ever on the outside; he delights in withstanding the words of every body; he was born to be a contrary, if not an adversary. The Lord reward him according to his works!

And would you believe it? Diotrophes is yet among the living, and he loves as much as ever to have the pre-eminence. He is mighty complacent so long as things go according to his dictation; but to the man who has a mind of his own, and ventures to express an opinion! No house is big enough for this same Diotrophes and the one who differs from him.

Just as he did to John and his brethren so does he now—casting out of the church those whom he cannot control. Poor man! when will he learn humility?

We infer the human nature is the same now that it was in Paul and John's day, and there is the same need of prudence, caution, and mutual forbearance. Perfection is not found on earth, nor shall we find it till we reach heaven.

We may also learn a lesson of practical wisdom. Shun the bad examples of Scripture, and imitate those which are good—especially follow Christ and imitate his example.—Pres.

How to Keep Wheels in Order.

A correspondent of the Southern Planter gives the following mode of preparing the fellos of wheels so that they will keep tight.

"I ironed a wagon some years ago, for my own use, and before putting on the tires, I filled the fellos with lin seed oil, and the tires have worn out and were never loose. I ironed a buggy, for my own use, seven years ago, and the tires are now as tight as when put on. My method of filling the fellos with oil is as follows: I use a long cast iron oil heater, made for the purpose; the oil is brought to a boiling heat, the wheel is placed on a stick, so as to hang in the oil each fellos one hour, for a common sized fellos. The timber should be dry, as green timber will not receive oil. Be careful that it gets no more than a boiling heat, in order that the timber be not burnt. Timber filled with oil is not susceptible of water, and the timber much more durable. I was amused, some time ago, when I told a blacksmith how to keep tires tight on wheels, by his telling me it was a profitable business to tighten tires; and the wagon maker will say, it is profitable to him to make and repair wheels—but, what will the farmer, who supports the wheelwright and smith, say?"

FORCE OF IMAGINATION.—A man who had been sentenced to Death at Vienna, was offered a full pardon if he would consent to pass the night in the bed of a person who had died of cholera. In about four hours he was seized with vomiting, violent cramps, and all the symptoms of cholera. Unhappily, by medical assistance, his life was saved. His astonishment was unbounded, when he was informed that the bed was perfectly pure.

God is most beautiful. He made all things. He made the world. He made heaven, and he is the centre of all glory.

A Western Editor says that many of his patrons would make good wheelwrights, if they held back so well.

HUSK BEDS.

No one who has not tried them knows the value of husk beds. Certainly mattresses would not be used if husk beds were tried. They are not only more pliable than mattresses, but are more durable.

The first cost is but trifling. To have husks made they must be split after the manner of splitting straw for braiding.

The finer they are split the softer will be the bed, although they will not be likely to last as long as when they are put in whole. Three barrels full well stowed in, will fill a good sized tick, that is, after they have been split. The bed will always be light, the husks do not become matted down like feathers, and they are certainly more healthy to sleep on.

Feather beds ought to be done away with, especially in warm weather. For spring, summer, and fall, husk beds ought to be all the go, and such undoubtedly will be the case when they are once brought into use. There is no better time to procure husks than when corn is being harvested, and the husks will be much nicer and cleaner when corn is cut up at the bottom and put in ticks. They do not become so dry and weather-beaten. It is calculated that a good husk bed will last from twenty-five to thirty years. Every farmer's daughter can supply herself with beds (against time of need) at a trifling expense, which is quite an inducement now-a-days.—New England Farmer.

AMERICAN CELEBRATION IN NEW YORK.

The Ninth Ward National American Club of New York gave a grand banquet at Niblo's, on Friday evening, in commemoration of the recent American victory. Speeches were delivered by Daniel Ullman, Jno. Minor Botts and others.

The following were among the toasts:—

1. The Memory of Washington—Sincerely enshrined within the hearts of all; it can never die.
2. The President of the United States.
3. The States of our Union—cemented by the blood of heroes; and bound together by a common patriotism; a common and universal interest; religious, commercial and humane; the alliance is sacred and holy; and all attempts at severance is sacrilege, and at war with the dearest interests of the American people.
4. Each State of our Union—a star in the heaven of Freedom to light the pathway; and cheer the heart of every liberally loving son of earth.
5. Civil and Religious Liberty—the pillars of our Republic, and the Arch of our safety; we protect them with our lives; our fortunes, and our sacred honors.
6. The Victory of the American Party of the State of New York—an evidence of the present doings and future intentions of SAM—with the aid of other States, he will plant our National Banner upon the dome of our Capital at Washington in 1855.
7. The Ladies of America—The best companions of man in life; in prosperity his joy; in adversity his stay; their smiles will cheer, and their influence elevate us.
8. The American Citizen—The education necessary to make such a character, is not the work of a few hours, but of a life-time.
9. The Founders of the American Party—Their noble work entitles them to the gratitude of this and all future generations.
10. Young America—As the folds of Freedom's banner are welcomed in each new State of our Union, so we welcome to our ranks the young body-guard of our great party.
11. The Flag of our Country—Its Stars the light of humanity; its stripes the scorpions of tyranny.
